The success of Ateres lies in the cooperation of the school/home alliance. Chinuch is most effective when messages are consistent at home and at school. To that end, we ask that all mothers and fathers come to school following the same tznius requirements we require of our staff members. Administrative staff will approach visitors who are non-compliant (which is both uncomfortable and embarrassing and should not be necessary).

We are proud of our students and parent body and we view each as an ambassador for the Ateres model. While we are open minded and are proud of the diversity that encompass our school, we owe it to the existing Ateres families to accept new families who share the same ideals and hashkafos that attracted them to Ateres Bais Yaakov. In the same vein, we hope that parents whose values are not in line with the school and its mainstream parent body would realize that it is not beneficial to place their child in the school. We must remember that the way we dress and behave in and outside of school is testimony to who we are.

Therefore, please read our guidelines of tznius (below). Please be cognizant that aside from abiding to it when visiting our school, we hope you will present yourself - wherever you are - in a way that would make the Ateres Family proud to point to you and say "they are also an Ateres Family".

Women are welcome in couture which covers the knees, elbows and collarbones. Outfits should be easily described as "Bais Yaakov" appropriate. Men too, are expected to visit in attire which is at least considered "business-casual" and would be appropriate in the shul setting as befits a makom Torah. Both parents and moros are seen as critical role models to our talmidos and we appreciate your cooperation in dressing in accordance with both the letter and spirit of halacha. All media statuses and postings should be of fine character and adherence to halacha.

Thank you for your partnership.
